

1. When should an individual take a stand against what he/she believes to be an injustice?
2. When is it necessary to question the status quo?
Who decides?
3. What are the causes and consequences of prejudice and injustice, and how does an individual's response to them reveal his/her true character?
4. What allows some individuals to take a stand against prejudice/oppression while others choose to participate in it?
5. What are the causes and consequences of prejudice and how does an individual's response to it reveal his morals, ethics, and values?

6. What happens when belief systems of societies and individuals come into conflict?

7. How do values and beliefs change over time?